Island Manager's Comments

Just before Memorial Day weekend a reporter from the Portland Press Herald came to the Island to interview residents pertaining to LD 1082. Those of you that were interviewed did an excellent job of explaining our position. I have added the article so you will all have an opportunity to read.

Seasonal residents of Frye Island wrestle with rising property tax rate

Although the Island in Sebago Lake does not send kids to local schools, its property tax bills have risen over 200 percent in 17 years.

BY ERIC RUSSELL STAFF WRITER

erussell@pressherald.com | @PPHEricRussell 207-791-6344

FRYE ISLAND — The cottage on Leisure Lane, almost directly across from the famed Frye's Leap rock ledge, has been in Bob Sutherland's family for 50 years and he hopes to one day turn it over to his adult sons. But Sutherland sees that vision growing dimmer with each passing year.

"The taxes are a challenge and are becoming more so all the time," he said last week from the back deck of the shingled cottage, among the first houses built on the 1,000-acre island in Sebago Lake. "It's got us on the path of non-sustainability."

Frustration about high property taxes is not unusual among Maine property owners, particularly those with water views, but Frye Island residents are unique.

In the 17 years since residents voted to secede from the town of Standish, property taxes on the island have gone up roughly 200 percent, mostly to support the local school district.

But Frye Island is a seasonal community, open only from May through October, and sends no children to district schools. Its inhabitants are largely people like Sutherland, middle-class retirees who live elsewhere in the winter.

Residents say they don't mind paying taxes, but they also believe their property tax rate is out of proportion with the rates of other towns in SAD 6 – Buxton, Hollis, Limington and Standish – particularly since they get nothing in return.

State Rep. Susan Austin, who represents Frye Island and several other towns in the Legislature, recently submitted a bill to change how island property owners are taxed for education.

The Education Committee discussed the bill at length this month, but ultimately turned it into a resolution that directs Frye Island officials to sit down with SAD 6 officials to find common ground.

Gary Donohue, who took over as Frye Island's town manager last July solely to tackle the tax issue, said this might be the island's best chance to make a change. "We can't continue this way," he said. "The island won't survive."

SAD 6 officials, including the superintendent and the chairman of the board of directors, didn't respond to multiple interview requests, but the school district has resisted Frye Island's calls for change in the past.

The tax issue stems from when Frye Island seceded from Standish in 1998, partly to keep their tax rate in check. The secession was contingent on the island remaining part of the school district, and, ironically, may have helped cause the current tax problem.

"I think in hindsight, we may have been better off staying with Standish," said Nancy Fournier, a real estate agent for the island and a seasonal resident. "But who knows?"

Unintended Consequences

Frye Island, the only incorporated freshwater island in Maine, was settled in the 1960s after two New England developers, J.A. Bowron and Gould H. Coleman, purchased the land for $130,000.

Many of the island's roughly 500 cottages were built in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

The island was always part of Standish, even though it is geographically closer to Raymond, where the ferry departs the mainland.

After years of watching their tax dollars pay for services like snowplowing and utility infrastructure that didn't benefit them, Frye Island residents decided to go it alone.

Standish said it wouldn't oppose the island's secession, but required that it stay in SAD 6. Typically, towns may vote to be removed from a school district, though their tax dollars still will be earmarked for education and support another school district.

Frye Island doesn't have that option.

In 2001, three years after the secession, the Legislature passed a law saying the town couldn't withdraw from SAD 6 without legislative approval.

Three years after that, the state passed L.D. 1, which overhauled the formula for funding public education to base it largely on enrollment. However, Frye Island was excluded from the new formula because it didn't have students, and since 2004, island property owners have watched their tax rates rise to support SAD 6's growing budget.

SAD 6 Superintendent Frank Sherburne gave a brief response to numerous voicemail and email messages for information on the school budget.

"All budget information can be located on the district's website under the budget area at the top of the page," he wrote.

The district's budget for the 2015 fiscal year was about $45 million, 48 percent of it paid by the state, the rest from contributing towns. Frye Island residents paid about $1.5 million, or 6.5 percent of the local share. Since Frye Island's tax burden for schools is based on property values, not enrollment, its residents pay a greater share for two main reasons: Property values on the island are higher since many houses have water frontage; and, unlike other towns, the island has no commercial tax revenue to offset the burden on residential taxpayers.

But residents say that despite what others may think, they are not all wealthy out-of-staters. While many islanders come from Florida, Massachusetts or Connecticut, among other places, many also come from Maine.

Most of the taxable property is valued between $200,000 and $350,000, according to the tax rolls. Maine's median home value is about $175,000.

"We have a few McMansions, but most people here are middle-class retirees on fixed incomes," said Dave Wagner, who owns the Frye's Leap General Store and Cafe. Located right off the ferry dock, it's a place where islanders can stock up on essentials like alcohol and salty snacks.

"The taxes have become a significant burden for many of them," Wagner said.

Impact On Real Estate

The Frye Island tax rate is about $23 per $1,000 of assessed value and the average tax bill is $3,200, but many homeowners pay in excess of $5,000.

Residents say that's a significant amount, especially for houses that are occupied for six months or less every year.

By comparison, other towns in SAD 6 have tax rates in the $12 to $14 range per $1,000 of valuation. For significantly less, they also get more public services.

Real estate agent Fournier said the tax rate has begun to affect the island's real estate market in two ways: More people are looking to sell their homes to get out from under the high taxes, and those houses are staying on the market longer or the owners are slashing their prices to make a sale.

"I don't know what will happen to the island," she said. "This is the worst I've seen."

The taxes on her own cottage have more than doubled, from $1,800 to $3,900, since she bought it 16 years ago, Fournier said.

Bev Vaillancourt and her husband bought their cottage on Frye Island in 1992. Their full-time residence is only about 30 miles away in Auburn, but now that they are retired they spend as much time as they can on the island.

"It's a wonderful mix of people and so family-oriented," she said. "Every day of the week, there is something for the children to do."

Like other residents, she said taxes have become a source of frustration.

"I'd certainly like them to be lower," Vaillancourt said. Rita and Andy Lapati live in Oxford, Connecticut, have owned a cottage on the island since 1983 and return every spring. They said they can't help but feel that they are being gouged.

"It's almost as though they are trying to scalp the tourists, but there are just as many Mainers out here," Rita Lapati said.

Bob and Margaret Miner, from Bolton, Connecticut, also have seen some animus directed at out-of-staters. "The truth is, we're supporting the local economy," Bob Miner said. "Everything we buy here is in a local store."

An Uphill Fight

Although Frye Island residents are united in their opposition to their tax rate, there doesn't appear to be much sympathy from non-islanders.

Rep. Austin, in her testimony this month, said, "When Frye Island openly approached SAD 6 in an attempt to work on a solution, they were met with laughs and told by the board to go to the Legislature if they wanted anything to change."

Any change that would benefit Frye Island property owners would certainly affect SAD 6. The school budget would either have to be reduced or other towns would have to contribute more.

Suzan Beaudoin, director of school finance and operations for the Maine Department of Education, testified against Austin's bill.

"This shifting of the local shares may cause a significant fiscal burden to some of the municipalities," she said. "Also, if Frye Island did withdraw from SAD 6, this would result in a significant loss of revenue for the school district and may result in cuts to educational programs."

Sen. Linda Valentino, D-Saco, also testified in opposition, saying the loss of revenue would hurt the other small towns. Based on the school formula, Buxton would have to pay an additional $400,000, Limington an extra $230,000 and Hollis an extra $170,000.

She said her mother, who is 85, owns a second home in Sebago that actually looks out toward Frye Island.

"She doesn't get a tax break and neither do the hundreds of other people in Maine with second homes – or even primary homes – who also don't have children in school," Valentino said.

Island residents don't see it that way. Frye Island is the only community in Maine that pays into a district without sending any students to school. The residents say they'd be fine with a property tax structure similar to other communities, even other lakefront communities, because it would almost certainly ease their burden.

The only other option would be for Frye Island to rejoin Standish, or perhaps even Raymond, which is in another school district.

Sutherland, who has 50 years of history and family memories on the island, said he supports public education and that other Frye Islanders do as well. They are just looking for equity.

"I think a lot depends on the cooperation of SAD 6," he said.

Betsy Gleysteen, the only Frye Island representative on SAD 6's board, is hoping the board takes the tax issue seriously.

"Everybody I talk to has a sense that it's just not fair," she said. "Islanders think negotiating with the SAD is a good next step."

NIXLE

Our NIXLE system is up and running. This system will notify all subscribers of important / emergency notices in their selected areas via text, web, and email. The best part of this is that it is a free service to both the municipality and to residents as well. We can initiate notices to all Islanders that subscribe to the service. However, in order to access the notices you will be required to subscribe. You can subscribe by going to their website at www.nixle.com and following the prompts. I would encourage everyone to subscribe to this service. It is an ideal way to be notified of issues that may affect your time on the Island.

Code Enforcement Officer

John Thompson
Office Hours Tues-Thurs 8:00 AM – 3:00 PM
Please take note, John will not be in the office on Thursday, June 11, 2015.

Mailing Addresses

In October of 2014 I requested a new Zip Code from the USPS. The request was denied on January 7, 2015. At this point, please continue to use your lot numbers for your mailing address. We are presently working with the Postmaster in Windham to reach a logical solution.

Example: Town of Frye Island
1 Sunset Road
Frye Island, Maine 04071

New Signs (E911 numbers)

The DPW is presently installing the new numbers on Town property. Please do not move these signs after the installation. The signs are the property of the Town of Frye Island. These new NG 911 signs are standardized and placed a certain way at a designated height for a reason. Even though a sign has been installed, there may be some changes to your number as numbering issues get resolved.

Package delivery protocol

All packages delivered by any courier service (UPS, FEDEX, etc.) will be delivered to the Post Office by 7 am the following day. You are responsible to track your own deliveries. If you have a package that is perishable, medicine, or overnight delivery you have the right to free pedestrian passage to collect your package at the Ferry trailer once you track and it states delivered.

Fireworks

The Frye Island fireworks display is scheduled for July 4th Saturday evening. Your Contributions for the show are greatly appreciated.

Variable Milfoil

Presently the Long Beach Marina and two other sites in the Quail Circle area have variable milfoil. The Town has taken steps to construct a DASH machine (Diver Assisted Suction Harvester). Our diver Mr. Larry Pilotte has advised us that with this equipment he will remove three times the amount per shift. He is asking for volunteers to assist him with this worthy project.

Larry's comment: Volunteers in helping with eradication of milfoil are greatly needed. Most of the work would be done on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Time frame 9:30am - 2:00pm.

Assisting diver in bagging. Walking shoreline and picking up loose fragments. If you have kayak available, gathering floating fragments is needed. Creating a "milfoil team" will ensure to control this invasive nightmare.

General Store and Café

We are open! We may have had a hiccup or two over the holiday weekend but all in all, things went well and we continue to get ready for the high season. Store inventory continues to increase as does the selection of ice cream flavors, and the café menu will continue to expand as we approach late June. Be sure to take a look around the store when you are down. You never know what may be hiding in a corner as we try to take advantage of all available space!

In the store, we continue to have a season opening sale featuring all of our T-Shirts on sales for 25% off. The sale will continue thru this weekend as we look to make room for new inventory. Be sure to check out our new fleece and outerwear apparel, embroidered with the Frye Island logo. On the grocery front, after having forgotten to order pancake syrup for opening weekend, I think that we have recovered and now have our normal selection of essential items, with the exception of the fresh produce which we will start to stock in late June. If there is something that you cannot find, please be sure to let us know.

In the café we are off and running. We learned a few things over the Memorial Day weekend and we will look to work on them this coming weekend, improving the cycle time for preparing and serving your meal selections. Always something to work on! As it is still early in the season, the menu continues to be limited in the café as are the flavors in ice cream. But there is still lots to choose from and we think that you will be able to find something that you like! Pizzas, burgers, steak and chicken bombs and of course our BLAT is on the café menu. And to complement your meal we of course have a great selection of craft beers as well as a revamped wine menu. As we start the season we have a couple of darker beers, a brown ale and a porter, before the weather gets too warm. And we are also featuring a very unique beer from Uinta brewing, a Belgian style sour beer. And as it has gotten warm very quickly, we can always whip up a frozen pina colada or one of our weekly drink specials to cool you off. For your listening pleasure we are delighted to have the island's own Alana MacArthur, who will be playing easy listening music at the café on Saturday evening at 7pm. This is a real treat!

While we hope and always work to exceed expectations, we ask for your continued patience this weekend as work through the kinks in the system. It will take a few weeks to rebuild the muscle memory but we plan to be hitting our stride and be in mid season form by the time we enter the high season!

And finally, below you can find the store and café hours for the coming week.

Store Hours 5/29 thru 6/04:

Friday	8:00am	9:00pm
Saturday	8:00am	9:00pm
Sunday	8:00am	8:00pm
Monday thru Thursday	8:00am	5:30pm

Café 5/29 thru 6/04:

Friday	4:00pm	8:30pm
Saturday	11:00am	8:30pm
Sunday	8:00am	7:30pm
Monday thru Friday (limited takeout)	11:00am	2:00pm

We look forward to seeing you down at the store and café.

The Frye's Leap Team

Meet the Frye's Leap Team!

This week we are excited to "introduce" you to another existing member of our team, our Ice Cream Manager and part of our bar team, Maggie (better known as Margaret to her father) Wagner. Maggie has been part of the Frye's Leap team since she was 14, working her way up as an ice cream scooper and hostess. The years of experience behind the ice cream counter have made her an "expert" in our flavors and in training our new ice cream staff. And spending time with her dad has made Maggie proficient in being able to describe and recommend our beers to our thirsty customers. Some day she will even get to sample them herself! Maggie recently finished her sophomore year at Rice University where she is studying kinesiology on a path to become a physical therapist. In her free time Maggie enjoys playing soccer and running, has a passion for photography, and loves animals. Be sure to say hi to Maggie when you see her in the bar or in the ice cream stand!

Frye Island Police & EMS

Chief of Police

Director of EMS

Dispatch: 207-893-2810

Fax: 207-655-3422

policed@fryeisland.com

1 Sunset Road, Frye Island 04071

How to contact Public Safety, Police-Fire-EMS

To avoid any confusion contacting your Police, Fire & EMS Departments, please follow these simple rules.

1. For emergencies; always dial 911
2. For non-emergency business; dial 893-2810 in area code 207. This is the number to the dispatch center that the island contracts with. Contact will be made with Police, Fire and EMS in real time by way of radio, phone, pager or email via I Phone. A call will be returned to the complainant shortly after we receive the information from dispatch.
3. When calling for police and EMS services please give a landmark along with both lot number and the new NG 911 address. Example; I live at Lot XXX, my new NG911 address is XX and Leisure lane and is located across from Beach #_. This will allow a quicker response. Until the new NG911 numbering are in place at the end of each driveway, this will be the most logical way to proceed.
4. Please do not leave police messages with the folks at the Town Hall, Public Works, Fire Department or other Town departments. In the past they have all been kind enough to relay messages to the police department but this is not their responsibility.

Golf Carts

As we all know, the island has an island exemption from the State of Maine to utilize golf carts as a form of transportation on the island. Simply, what this means is that due to our unique situation, being island residents, we can operate golf carts on public ways. This is a privilege, not a right, and with all privileges from the State, this is governed by State Law. All golf cart operation must meet the following standards.

1. All golf carts must be registered through the Town Hall with the lot number displayed at the rear of the golf cart. Re-registrations $12, new registrations vary depending on sales tax.
2. All golf carts have to be insured the same as any motor vehicle, approximately $75.00.
3. All operators of golf carts must have a valid driver's license. There is no exception.
4. Golf carts that are operated after dark must have lights turned on.

Volunteer Ambulance Drivers Wanted

A one day ambulance driver's course will be held here on the island. This 4-6 hr course will certify volunteers as AVOC Drivers and enable them to legally operate the ambulance during patient transport situations.

If you are interested and want to discuss this further, please send an email to police@fryeisland.com or just get word to the police department at 893-2810.

Public Safety

Fire Barn: 207-655-8618

Emergency: 911

Dispatch: 207-893-2810

As everyone knows, campfires and outside burning are prohibited on the island, except in a screened, "approved device" such as a chimenea. Effective immediately and until further notice, NO FIRES OF ANY KIND are allowed. The island hasn't fully "leafed out" and the fire danger on the island is "EXTREME" due to an extremely dry spring. A wildfire on the island would be devastating. Let's not take that chance. Thank you. Dave Bond, Fire Chief

Thanks to volunteer artists Tessa and Taliesin Amero who designed the colors and painted Smokey the Bear on the Fire Danger signs at the Fire Station and at the island Ferry Landing. Also thanks to their Grandfather islander Steve Amero who repaired the two signs. An excellent job by all!

FIFD COULD USE YOUR HELP!

FIFD would like to welcome everyone back to Frye Island for another great season! We also want to remind you that if you would like to donate your returnable (deposit paid) bottles and cans to the fire department, you should drop them off at the FIFD shed at the transfer station, which is way over to the right before you get to the large trash and recycle containers. If purchased in Maine, that includes wine, soda, beer and water bottles and cans. Last year we redeemed your donations for $928. We used this, plus some funds we had leftover from prior years, to put on the 4th of July hot dog lunch and to buy a portable water tank to replace the old one that was no longer useable. The water tank is a great asset for the island, but the town budget wasn't able to fund it. Every little bit helps, and we really appreciate your donations!
